MADISON. The capital of the State of Wisconsin and the county seat of Dane county, is on the C., M. & St. P. Ry, on the C. & N. W. Ry and on the Illinois Central R. R., 82 miles from Milwaukee, 38 from Janesville, 130 from Chicago and 270 from St. Paul. Situated between the two most prominent of the cluster of lakes which flow into and form a part of the head waters of Rock river, the site upon which the city of Madison is located, early attracted attention by its picturesque position and surroundings, and as a centre of prospective population it was chosen for the Territorial capital in 1836, when not even a log cabin existed for many miles around to distinguish it from the wilderness. The central portion surrounding the Capitol Park occupies about a square mile of undulating land, reaching upon the lake ridges, and varying from 50 to 75 feet above water level. Its progress has been gradual, and at the present time Madison boasts of the beauty and elegance of public and private buildings worthy of the appellation of the "Gem City," so generally accorded to it by tourists and visitors. While enjoying the luxuries of refined city life, its private residences, distributed along the eminences of the lake ridges, afford a quiet retirement, reminding the observer of rural life among the many charming spots on the Hudson. The proximity of the numerous lakes with living springs for their supply, accounts for a humidity of atmosphere during the heated season, wanting in some popular resorts which are swept by the arid atmosphere from surrounding prairies. Its lakes abound in fish, and the hospitality of its citizens is proverbial. Its mineral springs are claimed to possess high medicinal virtues; and it has already become noted for its educational advantages. The Territorial Capitol was completed and occupied in 1839, and continued to be used after the State was formed (1848), but from 1857 up to the present time, changes and additions have been frequent, and the plans for the extensions now being made are supposed to be complete. Madison emerged from village into city life in 1856, and has become a centre of attraction especially during the sessions of the legislature. The State University, situated upon an eminence a mile west of the Capitol, embraces 235 acres of land, including 195 donated by Dane county towards the agricultural department. The whole cost of the buildings proper belonging to the university exclusive of the observatory, is estimated at $700,000, including Science Hall, which has lately been erected, at a cost of $300,-

...0, and a large portion of the grounds is laid out in lawns, driveways and plats for experimental agriculture; and overlooked by the Washburn observatory, donated by a former governor, Gen. C. C. Washburn, and already ranking high in the scientific world. The early history of the university was accompanied with many embarrassments, but, since fostered by State care and aid, it has taken an exalted stand among kindred institutions; and its alumni are prominent throughout the States. Co-education of sexes was inaugurated about 1866. Now —1891—there are 57 professors, instructors and officers, and 800 students. Madison has six large public ward schools, with full attendance, and several juvenile, public and private. A high school, covering academic studies preparatory to the higher branches of the University, is in great favor; and, although occupying a spacious building, is always full. A private commercial college and a telegraph school of instruction are well patronized and popular. The Norwegian Theological Institute, situated on Monona lake ridge, is a quiet and flourishing institution, highly appreciated by persons of that nationality in the Northwest. A circulating free library and reading room containing 12,000 volumes, occupy a large space in the city hall; and the number of its volumes and the character of its literature make it worthy of the high commendations uniformly accorded it. There is an excellent system of water works, and a supply of pure water deemed ample for any emergency, is furnished by six wells drilled 750 feet deep. The letter carrying delivery system, established 6 years ago, meets with general commendation. The Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane, 4 miles north of the city and across Lake Mendota, adds an improving view to the attraction, and helps to complete the scenery, which is Madison's pride. The Monona Lake Assembly commenced in 1881, after the pattern of Chautauqua, N. Y., has proved successful in the extreme. Under the supervision of orthodox denominations, it has become a favorite camp ground, where thousands of people, many with whole families, live in the tented field during portions of July and August. Its grounds are located at a beautiful spot on the lake shore, where art is added to nature's charms in adornment. Innocent amusements are freely indulged in, and high talent is employed both for instruction and entertainment. It is greatly appreciated by the thousands who annually gather there for the advantages of a watering place of high moral tone, and moderate expenses. Small pleasure steamers, with sail and row boats, furnish convenient means of access and recreation. The State Historical Society, occupying large suites of rooms in the Capitol, embraces an immense library, containing 137,000 volumes, with memoirs, oil portraits of Wisconsin pioneers, and relics of historic interest hardly surpassed by any in the older States. The State library also in the Capitol building contains 25,000 volumes. The Dane county branch of the State Humane Society is located here. Among the public societies may be mentioned, Masonic and Odd Fellows, and the usual temperance organizations; German Turn Verein and the C. C. Washburn Post, No. 11, of the G. A. R. The city has a municipal court with extra judicial power, a well organized and efficient police force, and 2 steam fire engines with hose and hook and ladder companies. The assessed valuation of real estate is $4,666,941; of personal property, $1,527,943. The bonded indebtedness of the city is $228,500, the principal portion of which was incurred in the interest of railroads, water works, and for fire steamers. By statute, taxes are limited to two per cent. on assessed valuation of property, and further indebtedness restricted. The State Supreme court, U. S. circuit and local courts give Madison a prominence in litigation, and attract the highest legal talent to the capital city. The fair grounds in the western limit of the city, with ample buildings, race course, etc., are owned by the State and Dane county agricultural societies, and occupy 65 acres. The railroads leading into the city from eight different directions make it a railroad centre, accessible from all portions of the State. The C. & N. W. Ry, the C., M. & St. P. and Illinois Central have handsome and commodious passenger depots at this place. There are churches representing the following religious denominations: Congregational, Methodist, Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, Unitarian, German Catholic, German Presbyterian, German Lutheran and Norwegian Lutheran. The three first named may be said to be the most imposing structures. Four banks are located here, all in good standing, First National, State Bank, German American Bank and Capital City Bank. Madison Democrat are published daily and weekly. The Western Farmer, Wisconsin Botschafter, Staats Zeitung, Scandinavian Tribune and the Northwestern Mail are weekly issues. The Ægis, a weekly, is conducted by students of the university. A few religious papers, local in their character, are issued semi-monthly and monthly. The Fuller Opera House, with a seating capacity of 1,300, is one of the finest structures of the kind in the Northwest. The hotels of Madison enjoy good reputations. Among them are the Park Hotel and Capital House, possessing every modern convenience and appointment. In manufacturing interests Madison does not make large pretensions. One establishment, The Fuller & Johnson Mnfg Co., engaged chiefly upon farming implements, employs 150 men, The Boss Harrow Mnfg Co.'s works, and its productions find a market through the West. Three iron foundries and manufacturers of machinery, printing presses and steel works, and several carriagemakers, all of which distribute their wares more or less abroad, two planing mills, with lumber machinery, and three breweries. The commercial and mercantile interests are well represented in the different branches of trade, and there are several large tobacco warehouses here. The American and Adams Express Co.'s have local offices here; also the Western Union Telegraph Company. A general system of telephone is in operation. There are four public clocks ringing out the hours of the day, and a chime of bells peal from the tower of the Episcopal edifice. A street railway is in successful operation. Population, 15,500. Mail, daily. G. E. Bryant, postmaster.

MANITOWOC. The judicial seat of Manitowoc county, has a picturesque and commercial location seldom combined or excelled. Located in a rich farming section, on the shore of Lake Michigan, at the crossing of the M., L. S. & W. Ry over the Manitowoc river, it has a harbor a mile in length, improved and lengthened by two parallel piers 250 feet apart and 2,470 feet long, built by the United States government at a cost of $375,000. With such a harbor, open through the year, vessel trade with the ports to the south is never interrupted, and during the winter season Manitowoc is recognized as one of the best ship yard cities on Lake Michigan. Incorporated as a city in 1870, it has had a steady growth, and now contains 7,564 inhabitants, holders of assessed property to the value of $1,900,000, bonded by the city for $35,000. The industries of the city are varied and extensive, but the possibilities are far from being reached. The city contains 2 ship yards, an excellent dry dock, and a floating dock, 3 breweries, 10 cigar factories, the Ensilage Machinery Manufacturing Co., extensive iron works, several wagon factories, a coal dock with a capacity of 100,000 tons, an edged tool manufacturing company, 1 large paper and cigar box factory, 3 flouring mills, 4 tanneries, the Manitowoc Manufacturing Co., a large establishment manufacturing school, church and office furniture and employing 150 hands, the only glue factory in the State, vinegar works, 3 planing mills, a saw mill, 6 brick yards, 4 hay presses, representing an output of 8,000 tons pressed hay in 1889. There are 3 banks and 3 first class hotels, while a high school of 10 departments, 2 ward schools and several sectarian schools give the city a well marked reputation in educational matters. The various religious denominations are represented by 12 churches. The city also contains the spacious county insane asylum, and the Polish Orphan Asylum, which cost $15,000. Four newspapers—English, German and Polish—are published. The shipments constitute large quantities of MARIETTA. Lincoln county. See Irma.

MARINETTE. A prosperous and steadily increasing city of 12,000 inhabitants, located at the mouth of the Menominee river, on the shore of Green Bay, in Marinette county, of which it is the judicial seat. It is opposite the city of Menominee, Mich., with which it is connected by railway and wagon bridges and street railway. The river is navigable for heavy draught vessels 2 miles from its mouth and has along its banks 10 large saw mills with a daily cutting capacity of 2,000,000 feet of lumber. Its waters are controlled by a system of dams that places the water power second to none in the Northwest. This magnificent water power and the almost unlimited forests of pine, hemlock, maple, ash, basswood, rock elm, etc., that abound in the vicinity, makes this city a formidable competitor for second place in population in the State during the next decade. The railroad facilities are good, the C. & N. W. Ry and the M. & N. R. R., both having commodious depots, with a network of side tracks to accommodate every mill. The city contains Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal, Lutheran, Catholic, Norwegian, Swedish, German and Baptist churches, 5 large graded public schools employing 32 teachers, an academy, a handsome, commodious and well appointed court house, erected at a cost of $30,000, a town hall, 2 opera houses, 2 national banks, flour, paper and pulp mills, the Marinette Iron Works, the most extensive plant of the kind in the State, and numerous elegant and well stocked special and general stores, etc. The city is lighted by gas and electricity, has a well equipped and efficient fire department and a complete system of water works. The press is represented by the Eagle, the North Star, the Argus, the Voice of Labor, the Epworth Sun and the Pioneer Presbyterian. Land in the immediate vicinity ranges in price from $25 to $100 per acre. Assessed valuation of real and personal property, $3,600,000. Stages to Cedar River. Tel., W. U. and Postal-Tel. Exp., Am. Mail, daily. Lewis S. Patrick, postmaster.

MARINETTE. A prosperous and steadily increasing city of 12,000 inhabitants, located at the mouth of the Menominee river, on the shore of Green Bay, in Marinette county, of which it is the judicial seat. It is opposite the city of Menominee, Mich., with which it is connected by railway and wagon bridges and street railway. The river is navigable for heavy draught vessels 2 miles from its mouth and has along its banks 19 large saw mills with a daily cutting capacity of 2,000,000 feet of lumber. Its waters are controlled by a system of dams that places the water power second to none in the Northwest. This magnificent water power and the almost unlimited forests of pine, hemlock, maple, ash, basswood, rock elm, etc., that abound in the vicinity, makes this city a formidable competitor for second place in population in the State during the next decade. The railroad facilities are good, the C. & N. W. Ry and the M. & N. R. R., both having commodious depots, with a network of side tracks to accommodate every mill. The city contains Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal, Lutheran, Catholic, Norwegian, Swedish, German and Baptist churches, 5 large graded public schools employing 32 teachers, an academy, a handsome, commodious and well appointed court house, erected at a cost of $20,000, a town hall, 2 opera houses, 2 national banks, flour, paper and pulp mills, the Marinette Iron Works, the most extensive plant of the kind in the State, and numerous elegant and well stocked special and general stores, etc. The city is lighted by gas and electricity, has a well equipped and efficient fire department and a complete system of water works. The press is represented by the Eagle, the North Star, the Argus, the Voice of Labor, the Evening Sun and the Pioneer Presbyterian. Land in the immediate vicinity ranges in price from $25 to $100 per acre. Assessed valuation of real and personal property, $3,600,000. Stages to Cedar River. Tel., W. U. and Postal-Tel. Exp., Am. Mail, daily. Lewis S. Patrick, postmaster.

MERRILL. The judicial seat of Lincoln county, is a prosperous and rapidly increasing incorporated city, advantageously located on the Wisconsin river and on the C., M. & St. P. Ry, in the southern part of the county, 170 miles (air line) northwest of Milwaukee, and 18 north of Wausau. It contains 8 large saw mills, 9 planing mills, 3 sash, door and blind factories, large booms for the storage of logs, machine shops, a capacious city hall and public library building, a steam laundry, a flour mill, an amusement hall with a seating capacity of 1,000, a system of Holly water works, electric light plant and an electric street railway; 8 churches, first-class hotels, and the usual number of special and general stores, etc. The press is represented by 3 weekly newspapers, the Lincoln County Advocate (Rep.), the Lincoln County Anzeiger (German) and the Northern Wisconsin News (Dem.). The city is surrounded by an excellent hardwood farming country, which is being rapidly developed, and there are numerous small saw mills for the manufacturing of hardwood lumber. The main industry is the lumbering interests, which are the largest on the Wisconsin river. The saw mills have a cutting capacity of 175,000,000 feet during the cutting season, the lumber manufactured during the sawing season of 1890 being 150,000,000 feet, besides a corresponding amount of shingles, lath, sash, doors and blinds, etc., which are shipped in large quantities. Exp., Am. Tel., W. U. Population, 7,000. H. C. Hetzel, postmaster.

MILWAUKEE. The advance made by the city of Milwaukee since the last issue of the Wisconsin State Gazetteer and Business Directory, both in material growth and the increase of population, has been more marked than during any other like period of its history. While the forward movement in every department of business activity has been rapid, and in many instances phenomenal, it has always been devoid of that unnaturalness and artificiality too often characteristic of northern cities. The enlargement of established manufactories and the projection of new enterprises have been in response to the healthful and legitimate demands of trade. The growth of the city, therefore, rests upon a sure financial basis, and has in it that element of permanency which fully justifies the confidence shown in its future by the constant and rapid appreciation of real estate values.

THE POPULATION.

As shown by the United States census of 1880, Milwaukee had a population of 115,578. The State census of 1885 gave to the city a population of 160,000, while the National census for 1890 indicated 204,150, showing an increase for the decade just passed of more than 77 per cent., which is greater than that of any other city of the same class in the United States. With the increase of population there has been a constantly growing demand for homes by the thousands, having profitable employment in various manufacturing establishments and offices connected with large business enterprises. To meet this demand, numerous flats have been laid out adjacent to the city, where lots may be obtained at reasonable figures, on which their owners erect comfortable houses. Nearly all these additions to the city are easily accessible by the various electric and motor railway lines, which connect them with the business centre of the city. In their efforts to secure homes of their own, men of limited means are materially aided by the various loan and building associations of the city. Adding to these favorable conditions the exceptional frugality and thrift of Milwaukee's industrial population, we have as a result in the metropolis of Wisconsin, that most desirable of all cities, a city of home owners. Indeed, statistics abundantly prove, that Milwaukee excels all other cities of the world in this regard. A similar condition of affairs also holds relative to the ownership of business blocks, most of the merchants and business men occupying their own property. Owing to the establishment of large manufacturing plants in the outskirts of the city and the consequent demand for homes by operatives, there has been of late years unusual activity in outside real estate. During the year 1889 there were recorded and put upon the market 72 different plats of suburban property. At the same time transactions in "inside" property have been active, with prices firm and constantly appreciating. The most important transfers of this class of property have been made with a view to the immediate erection of large business blocks. Doubtless Worthy of mention also is the new Metropolitan Block, corner of Martin and Third streets, and the magnificent new Davidson Theatre, on Third street. In addition to these, many other business blocks, as well as flats and apartment houses, have been erected in different parts of the city. The building outlook for 1891 is certainly most flattering. Ground has already been broken for the elegant new Hotel Pfister, which will be located on the east side, at the intersection of Wisconsin and Jefferson streets. This building will be eight stories in height, and will be, when completed, one of the finest and most complete hotels in the entire Northwest. The opening of spring will undoubtedly see the beginning of active operations in the erection of the new government building, for which Congress has appropriated $1,600,000. This immense structure will occupy the entire block on Wisconsin street, diagonally opposite the Hotel Pfister. Plans have been matured for the erection the coming year of several other large office buildings, prominent among which, will be a ten story block at the corner of Wisconsin and East Water streets, and the Equitable Insurance building, cor Wisconsin and Jefferson streets.

MANUFACTURES.

Milwaukee's pre-eminence as a manufacturing city becomes more apparent with each year. Evidence of this statement is afforded by the frequent enlargement of existing plants and the locating here of new manufacturing establishments every few weeks, in the face of strong competition of other cities bidding high for such enterprises. Eastern manufacturers desiring to establish branch factories for the purpose of handling their rapidly growing western business at closer range, are quick to discover Milwaukee's superior natural advantages, and on account of them often locate here in preference to other cities offering immense bonuses and other inducements seemingly more advantageous than those held out by this city. Among those things that make Milwaukee attractive to capitalists as a location for large manufactories may be mentioned: its nearness to the inexhaustible iron and copper mines and the lumber regions of Northern Wisconsin and Michigan, its proximity to the Illinois coal fields, its easy access to the Eastern coal deposits by the cheap water communication afforded by the great lakes, its unrivaled railroad connections with all parts of th emighty Empire of the West, and by no means the least, the sobriety, industry and reliability of its industrial population. Chief among eastern companies locating their western branches in Milwaukee during the past year is the Fuller & Warren Stove Company, of Troy, N. Y., who have just erected a factory in the northwestern part of the city, which involved the investment of half a million dollars, and will afford profitable employment to 1,000 men. Negotiations are also pending with the Walter A. Wood Harvester Company for the establishment of their western branch in this city. It is understood also, that the Fuller & Johnson Works, of Madison, Wis., will be removed to Milwaukee next spring. Other heavy manufacturers are looking toward this city as a desirable location for their business. Milwaukee's phenomenal development as a manufacturing center, is fully attested by a comparison of the results of the census of manufacturing statistics of the years 1880 and 1890. As shown by the returns of the former year, the annual output of the various industries of this city amounted to $43,473,812. Though the local officials having this work in charge are not authorized to give out any figures relative to the results of their work, they estimate that the official announcement of the census bureau relative to Milwaukee's industries will show that the annual output of the city for 1890 will be fully three times that of 1880, or about $125,000,000. This is a result of which every Milwaukeean has just reason to be proud. The work of collecting these statistics has been done this year with exceptional thoroughness with a view solely to giving to Milwaukee its proper position among the great manufacturing cities of the country.

RAILWAYS AND TRAFFIC.

Though the past two years have witnessed the building of no new lines of railroad into Milwaukee, changes have taken place in the railroad world that will inure greatly to the benefit of the city. The practical consolidation of the Northern Pacific and Wisconsin Central systems gives Milwaukee a direct line through to the Pacific coast and makes the Cream City, one of the principal eastern terminals of the great Northern Pacific system. Heretofore the Wisconsin Central has entered the city over one of the lines of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, but now the right of way has been secured by this company for a line of its own into the city and extensive grounds secured for adequate terminal facilities, which will include in the near future the erection of a magnificent passenger depot in the heart of the city. The company also has in view the building of a line to the southwest to connect with the Chicago division, thus affording a third line of railroad between Milwaukee and Chicago. Another consolidation is that consummated September last, by which the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Company acquired the ownership of the Milwaukee & Northern road. The Northern has long been regarded as one of the best paying lines in the West, and its acquisition by the St. Paul can not fail to prove of great advantage to the latter, giving to it, as it does, a well paying line into the rich copper, iron and lumber regions of Northern Wisconsin and Michigan and affording the company a direct connection with Lake Superior. The great Milwaukee system, built up as it has been by Milwaukee men and with this city as the base of operations, has justly become the pride of its citizens, and as it has continued its career of conquest throughout all the great western States, has added thereby largely to the prosperity of the city. The Chicago & Northwestern road, though not so distinctively a Milwaukee institution, has also contributed its full share to the welfare of the city by affording lines of communication with the mining regions to the north, with the great agricultural section of the upper Mississippi valley, and reaching out to the exhaustless treasures of the Rocky mountains. The Northwestern company has given new evidence of its high appreciation of the importance of its Milwaukee business by the erection last year in this city of a magnificent new passenger station, which, for beauty of architecture and adaptation to the purposes for which intended, is unexcelled by any other similar structure in the entire Northwest.

It may be truly said that Milwaukee's wondrous growth during the past few years has been to a large extent the result of the development of the great resources of Northern Wisconsin and Michigan, and it may also be truly said that no one agency has contributed more to this development than has the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western Ry. Its line runs north along the shore of Lake Michigan, from Milwaukee to Sheboygan, Manitowoc and Two Rivers, thence west to Appleton and Kaukauna, the prosperous manufacturing cities in the Fox River valley, and thence north through the great lumber regions and the Gogebic iron range to Ashland on Lake Superior. The Lake Shore was the first line to enter the Gogebic iron district, and its wonderful development may be largely attributed to the foresight of the projectors of this road. The docks of the Lake Shore company for the handling and shipment of iron ore, destined for manufacture at Lake Erie ports, are said to be the largest docks of the kind in the world.

Though the local officials having this work in charge are not authorized to give out any figures relative to the results of their work, they estimate that the official announcement of the census bureau relative to Milwaukee's industries will show that the annual output of the city for 1890 will be fully three-fifths that of 1890, or about $193,000,000. This is a result of which every Milwaukeean has just reason to be proud. The work of collecting these statistics has been done this year with exceptional thoroughness with a view solely to giving to Milwaukee its proper position among the great manufacturing cities of the country.

STEAMSHIP LINES.

The superior railroad facilities possessed by Milwaukee, connecting it with all important ports of the interior, are admirably supplemented by several important steamship lines that afford rapid and safe communication with all important cities of the great lakes. The Flint & Pere Marquette railroad company runs a number of finely equipped passenger and freight steamers between Milwaukee and points on both sides of Lake Michigan, which furnish a means for adding largely to Milwaukee's wholesale trade. Similar facilities are afforded by the Goodrich line of steamers and also by the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee Railroad Company. Several other companies maintain steamers between Milwaukee and the various ports on lakes Michigan and Superior. Besides a large number of railway vessels and steam barges carry on an immense traffic during the summer in the transportation of coal, lumber, iron ore and general merchandise between Milwaukee and other lake ports. Milwaukee's commerce for 1889 and the increase over that of 1888 are as follows:

PUBLIC SPIRITED ASSOCIATIONS.

Milwaukee has been the gainer during the past two years in the aroused spirit of pride in the city's signal achievements as a prosperous, commercial and business centre, as also in the renewed enterprise of its leading business men in promoting, in every legitimate way, the material upbuilding of the city. While, as in previous years, much credit is due to the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association, it is but just to say, that the Association for the advancement of Milwaukee has been been especially active and effective in furnishing information to capitalists and others, and in inducing them to establish large works in Milwaukee. Indeed, the officers of that organization are ever alert to discover and promote any enterprise that will contribute to the general good of Wisconsin's metropolis. This association was largely influential in securing the selection of Milwaukee as the place of holding the Knights of Pythias Conclave of the World, which convened in this city last July. This, as did the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic the year previous, brought many thousands of people here from all parts of the country, all of whom were generous in their praises both of the city itself and the hospitality of its people. Thousands of people are attracted to the city annually by the Milwaukee Exposition, as also by the Wisconsin State Fair, which is now regularly held in Milwaukee. The last exhibition of the society was the most successful and profitable of any in the history of that organization. The wisdom of its officials in deciding to make Milwaukee the home of the State Fair is abundantly proven by the fact that, after paying all debts previously contracted and meeting all current expenses of the last fair, the society now has a balance on hand of over $7,000.

MUNICIPALITY.

Fortunate, indeed, is Milwaukee in the uniform economy and fidelity with which its municipal affairs are conducted. The annals of this city are happily free from those unseemly scandals of boodleism and malfeasance in office which too often marr the good name of rapidly growing cities. While, in the matter of city improvements extravagant waste has been avoided, it has been the policy of the board of public works to keep fully abreast with the legitimate wants of a rapidly growing population. Extensions and improvements go on unceasingly whenever and wherever required in the sewerage and water department and in the paving of streets. The Washington avenue tunnel, over two miles in length, designed to drain the northwestern portion of the city; the intercepting sewer, with pumping works, performing a like service for the south side, and the new flushing tunnel, recently completed, by which an immense volume of pure water is forced into Milwaukee river just below the dam, afford the basis of a sewerage system not inferior to that of any western city.

PARKS, PUBLIC AND PRIVATE.

Though heretofore the city has been lacking in adequate public parks, private enterprise has largely supplied the deficiency, and one of the features of Milwaukee life is to be found in its summer gardens and beautiful private parks, where a large number of citizens find their social enjoyments during the summer months. Chief among these are Schlitz Park, White Fish Bay Park, National Park, Miller's Garden and the Shooting Park. The public parks now completed, the benefits of which the people enjoy, are Juneau Park, on the lake shore, and Washington Park, on Grand avenue. The former, the gift of the seventh ward to the city, has been tastefully terraced and lawned and commands a magnificent view of Milwaukee bay, than which no American city can boast one more beautiful. The park is ornamented by a handsome statue of Solomon Juneau, and another of Leif Ericsson, the Norse explorer. The fourth ward has boulevarded Grand Avenue, where it widens above Eighth street, and one of the West Side's patriotic ladies has set an example worthy of emulation in adorning it with a bronze statue of Washington. Though, as stated above, Milwaukee as a municipality has in the past been somewhat lax in beautifying the city with parks commensurate with public improvements in other directions, steps have now been taken to provide the city with a complete system of parks, which, when fully developed, will give the Cream City a beauty and attractiveness in this regard equal to that of any city in the Union. By an act of the Legislature of 1889, a board of park commissioners was created and the city authorized to issue $1,000,000 bonds, the proceeds to be used for park purposes. In accordance with this provision a park board has been appointed and land in different parts of the city has been purchased and active operations already begun in improving and fitting them up for the use of the public.

THE FIRST SETTLEMENT.

The first white man to make Milwaukee his home was Jean Baptiste Mirandeau, who here established himself in business as a fur trader in the year 1805. He found a broad wide spreading bay, bordered by a beautifully undulating shore line, back from which extended in all directions the primæval forest, peopled with the noble red man and the wild beasts which made this region his "happy hunting grounds."

The years passed by and in 1818 Solomon Juneau, known as the founder of Milwaukee, here located and began laying the beginnings for the great metropolis that now exists. Soon thereafter other settlers cast in their lot with this hardy pioneer and it was not long before a flourishing little village of white settlers resulted. Steady, and oftentimes rapid, has been the growth of Milwaukee from that day to this, until now we have a large commercial city, the metropolis, next to Chicago, of all that vast country lying west of the great lakes and stretching from Indiana to Oregon and from Missouri to Manitoba. The Penn Mutual Life

921-3-5 CHESTNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

In WHICH of the Leading Progressive Companies shall I Insure my Life?

The wise consideration of this question may save you One Hundred Dollars a minute.

Most companies are SAFE.

The Rates of the competing companies are practically the same. DIVIDENDS regulate cost or profits.

The following FACTS,

therefore, answer your question.

A:—The Penn gives larger Dividends than other companies—age, year, kind, amount, being the same.

S. A. Giffen, Attorney, Boulder, Colorado, has a 15 year endowment for $1,000.00 in Mutual Life, and same in Penn Mutual.

Mutual Life's reversionary addition for '87 was $9.00, for '88 was $9.00, for '89 was $8.00.

Penn Mutual's reversionary addition for '87 was $12.00, for '88 was $13.00, for '89 was $16.00.

NOTICE—1889 reversionary addition in Penn Mutual was just double that of the Mutual Life.

In March 1882, S. W. Sessions of Cleveland, insured his life by two Ordinary Life Policies of $10,000 each—one in the Penn Mutual and one in the New York Life. To March, 1890, nine premiums had been paid, less the eight cash dividends at a net saving in the Penn Mutual of $463.84.

In 1883, J. B. Martin of Lancaster, Pa., age 53, had issued to him two Life Policies of $5,000 each in the Penn Mutual and the Equitable. The seven annual cash dividends of the Penn lack just $7.17 of being double those of the Equitable. A difference in cost of $168.

Get the record of any policy issued by the above companies since 1883 where surplus has been used in reduction of premiums and contrast it with one of the same date, age and kind in the Penn Mutual.

B:—Our Straight Old-Fashioned Endowments with Non-Forfeitable additions,

Will give better results than Semi-Tontines in other Companies.

Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Actual results on twenty year Endowment Policy No. 29,807 issued in 1883, age 36, for $1,000.

In six years the non-forfeitable additions are $83.04.

Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Memorandum of Surplus arising from Policy No. 123,305. Twenty year Endowment, issued 1883, age 36, for $1,000. Surplus for six years with loss and lapse profits and interest, $71.05.

The Penn gives you your option to take the cash or use it to absolutely increase your policy; and in case of either lapse or death, YOU RECEIVE IT.

The Northwestern promises that if you are alive and your policy is in force at the maturity of the lengthy period, then you will receive your share of dividends; but if you die or lapse, YOU LOSE IT.

WHICH WOULD YOU RATHER HAVE?

GUARANTEED CIRCULATION,

SEPTEMBER 1st, 1890.

"Germania," Milwaukee, Wis.	85,000
"Deutsche Warte," Chicago, Ill. (partly agricultural),	25,000
"Erholungsstunden," Chicago, Ill. (Literary),	22,000
"Deutsches Volksblatt," Buffalo, N. Y.	10,000
"Haus- u. Bauernfreund," (Agricultural), Milwaukee,	80,000

All of above papers occupy a high position in American Journalism. They are unobjectionable family papers, edited in accordance with Christian Principles, and for this reason patronized by a large class of religious people. The first three named papers circulate in every section of the West, the "Buffalo Volksblatt", mainly in the East, the "Haus- und Bauernfreund," throughout the country.

This unrivaled popular paper, devoted to farming and manufacturing interests, is edited by a most distinguished practical agriculturist. The "Germania" and "Haus- und Bauernfreund" have a much larger circulation than any other German Weekly in the United States.

All classes of mechanics and dealers seeking German trade will through our papers reach a larger number of readers than by any other channel.

Advertising rates comparatively lower than those of probably any other paper.

THE ONLY RELIABLE

Vermin and Insect Exterminators.

One remedy for destroying all Insects and Vermin is a humbug. It is necessary to use different remedies for exterminating different kinds of insects. Do not be deceived by purchasing the so-called "Yellow Insect Powder."

The only reliable insect powders are manufactured by me.

RATS, MICE, BUGS, ROACHES, BIRD-LICE, Etc.,

ARE POSITIVELY DESTROYED.

Price, Retail, 25c per box, and upwards. Patent Blowers, 15c. Also sold at wholesale rates. Send for price-list.

I also destroy vermin under guarantee. No advance payments.

I have a large list of recommendations from the leading business men of Milwaukee, which can be examined at my office. Read the following:

HOUSE OF CORRECTIONS MILWAUKEE CO., WIS.,
June 24, 1890.

This is to certify that the ingredients for the destruction of rats, mice, and cockroaches, manufactured by I. Kaatz, are all he claimed them to be, and I cheerfully recommend them to the afflicted public.

M. J. McLAUGHLIN, Inspector.

All orders promptly attended to. Amount and postage should accompany orders from outside. Manufactured and for sale by

The COMMON SENSE MILK JAR

THE COMMON SENSE MILK JAR is a new patent, but has been in use on Eastern milk routes and has given the best satisfaction in every instance, combining Economy of Time, Labor, and Expense of Materials.

It discards the use of glass or metal tops, wire bails or other fastenings which renders the ordinary milk jar so difficult to keep clean and in good order, and reduces the cost of manufacture and breakage to the smallest degree possible, and requires no washer. The old style attached cover interferes to a considerable extent with washing the jars.

ROOFERS,

AND DEALERS IN

Black Diamond and Asbestos Roofing.

Each is adapted for both flat and steep roofs, is ready for laying when received, and the putting on is so simple that any person without previous experience can lay and complete from five to eight squares per day.

Our roofing is absolutely water-proof and practically fire-proof. We do not claim it to be absolutely indestructible by fire; we do, however, claim that when our felt is painted with our Ashphaltum Cement and sanded, the roof presents as hard a surface as possible, and will resist any ordinary amount of fire which might fall upon it, like sparks or cinders from a chimney, passing locomotive, or burning brands from an adjoining burning building.

It is suitable for all kinds of climates, and is not affected by steam, acids, gases or condensation, and will not mildew or impart any taste to water.

NEW LONDON. A prosperous incorporated city located on both sides of Wolf river, at the crossing of the G. B., W. & St. P. and the M., L S. & W. Rys, in Waupaca county, 22 miles northeast of Waupaca, the judicial seat, and 30 northwest of Oshkosh. Wolf river is navigable at this point and steamers run to Oshkosh. It was first settled in 1830; was incorporated as a city in 1875 and contains Congregational, Methodist, Lutheran, Catholic and Baptist churches, good schools and a bank. A weekly newspaper the Times, is published. The city is well built and well lighted, has about 24 fine fountains of a very superior quality of water, a volunteer fire department, and an efficient constabulary. It is surrounded by an excellent farming country, the products of which are extensively shipped by local produce and commission firms. Among its many manufacturing interests may be mentioned its extensive lumber milling business and its planing mills, breweries, machine shops and foundries, flour mills, excelsior mills, cigar factories, furniture factory, soap factory, bee-hive factory, all owned and controlled by her citizens, prominent among whom may be mentioned: T. Knapstein & Co., brewers; Lyon, Daugherty & Knapsteins, lumber and milling; Foote & Gilman, flouring mill; The Johnson Mnfg Co., lumber and excelsior; George Beyer and Hans P. Madson, founders and machinists; C F Reuter, cigar mnfr; Schantz & Hahn, soap mnfrs; G W Werner and W Dedolph, extensive produce shippers; W G Le Count of the Times and others engaged in other pursuits, uniting in all a very substantial lot of business men. There is a good opera house, capable of seating 500 people, two public halls, a band, 4 good hotels, and two livery stables. The assessed valuation of real and personal property amounts to about $500,000, and the city has a debt of about $20,000. The products of its factories, live stock and general farm produce constitute its shipments, making it a leading point in this particular on either of the lines of railways which enter the city. Tel. OCONTO. The judicial seat of Oconto county is a prosperous, incorporated city, advantageously located on Green bay, at the mouth of Oconto river and on the C. & N. W., the M., L. S. & W., and the M. & N. Rys, 157 miles north of Milwaukee. Within the past four years the city has enjoyed a rapid growth, and business interests of all kinds have developed in an unprecedented degree. There are Catholic, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, 5 public graded schools, a convent, 2 Catholic parochial schools, 1 Lutheran parochial school, a National bank, a $20,000 city hall, 3 public halls each capable of seating 500; an armory hall which will seat 1,000 people; a public library with 2000 volumes, a commodious court house, 5 saw mills 3 planing mills, flour, shingle and post mills, a large brewery, a barb-wire spool factory, 3 wagon and sleigh manufactories, numerous large and well-stocked special and general stores, while the minor branches of trade and the learned professions are thoroughly represented. There is an excellent system of water works, and a well equipped and efficient paid fire department. The city is lighted by incandescent electric lights, and the electricity is supplied from one of the best plants in the State. Three newspapers, the Enquirer, the Lumberman and the Oconto County Reporter are published, and are ably edited and progressive sheets, enjoying a good circulation in Oconto and adjoining counties. A furniture factory and shoe factory have each secured building sites in the city and will be in operation during the summer of 1891. The fish trade is a very important industry, the exports amounting to over 10,000 barrels annually. Lumber is the principal shipment. Tel., W. U. and Chi. Postal. Exp., Am. and U. S. OSHKOSH. The judicial seat of Winnebago county, in the east central portion of which it is located, ranks in point of commerce, population and manufacturing enterprise among the leading cities of the State. It is an important station on the C. & N. W. Ry, the C., M. & St. P. Ry, the M., L. S. & W. Ry and the Wisconsin Central Line, which, with their connections, afford unsurpassed transportation facilities to all parts of the United States. The Upper Fox river empties into Lake Winnebago at this point, and for two miles the river is thickly studded on both sides with saw and planing mills, sash, door and blind factories, coffin and furniture factories, machine shops, foundries, trunk factories, pump factories, chair factories, match factories, carriage works, stone yards, lime kilns, soap factories, vinegar works, breweries and many others. The United States government has improved the navigation in the Lower Fox by dams and locks, so that boats of 300 tons burden, and drawing between 5 and 6 feet of water, can easily reach Oshkosh from Green Bay, and a large amount of freight and merchandise for the interior is shipped by water through the great lakes and up the Fox improvement, which has become an important point of transhipment. The Wolf river empties into the Upper Fox, 10 miles above Oshkosh, and many million feet of logs are annually floated down to the city, and are here cut up and manufactured. The press is represented by the Northwestern (daily and weekly), the Times (daily and weekly), the Sun (daily), the Signal (weekly), the Chief (weekly), and the Wisconsin Telegraph (weekly). Several first-class hotels cater to the wants of the traveling public. Yachting is one of the great features on Lake Winnebago, and the annual regattas are largely attended. This place is a favorite resort for sportsmen during the period when wild duck and teal are in season, while bass, pickerel and pike are found here in large quantities. The educational facilities are of a superior order, the school buildings are among the finest in the State, a State normal school being located here, and the city is becoming notably prominent for the liberal and careful manner in which such matters are supported and maintained. The city contains 5 banks. The different religious denominations are numerously represented, and the majority possess handsome and imposing places of worship. The city is lighted by electricity and gas, has Nicholson pavement on the principal streets, has a splendid system of sewerage, the Holly system of water works, 30 miles of main pipes, a well equipped and efficient fire department, telephone exchange and all the facilities and requisites of a modern metropolitan city. A new government building has been erected at a cost of $100,000 The residence portion is well wooded with mammoth oaks and maples, and contains numerous, elegant and costly dwellings. The city is well provided with theaters, halls, etc., and has an opera house with a seating capacity of 1,000. Exp., Am., U. S. and N. P. Tel., W. U. and Postal. Population, 25,000. Mail, daily. "THE OSHKOSH"

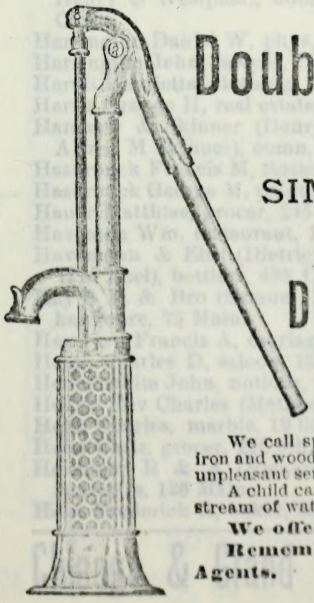
ANTI-FREEZING

Double-Acting Force-Pump

FOR SHALLOW WELLS.



SIMPLICITY AND DURABILITY

Are the Essential Elements in all Mechanical Devices.

IN OUR

DOUBLE-ACTING FORCE-PUMP

WE CLAIM TO HAVE THE ESSENTIAL ELEMENTS.

We call special attention to the handle. Being a combination of malleable iron and wood, it is practically proof against frost, and entirely overcomes the unpleasant sensation experienced in grasping an iron handle in frosty weather.

A child can operate the pump with ease, producing a powerful and constant stream of water.

We offer this Pump to the Trade Entirely on its Merits.

Remember, we give Exclusive Territory and Protect Our Agents.

pal, Lutheran, German Evangelical, Free Methodist, German Catholic and German Methodist denominations, a large Masonic hall and armory combined, and numerous large and well stocked special and general stores and elegant residences. The press is represented by the Portage Democrat and Portage Register, published daily, and by the Democrat, Wisconsin State Register and the Columbia County Wecker, all issued weekly. The establishment of any manufactory to convert the raw material into articles of daily use would be a safe and profitable investment. Cattle, hogs, sheep, wood, grain, brick and lager beer comprise the principal shipments. Sandstone, granite and jasper are found in the vicinity. Exp., Am. Tel., W. U. Telephone connection. George W. PRAIRIE DU CHIEN. This flourishing incorporated city, one of the oldest places in the State, is located on a level prairie at the foot of the Mississippi bluffs. When first visited by the French, the prairie was occupied by a tribe of the Fox Indians under command of a chief named Alein, which signifies dog, and to this circumstance the city owes its present name of La Prairie du Chien or the dog's plain. It occupies a splendid commercial position, the Mississippi river, the C., B. & N. Ry and the C., M. & St. P. Ry affording transportation facilities to all parts of the United States. Its Artesian mineral wells, the waters of which contain valuable curative properties and furnish the city with a comparatively cheap and never failing system of water works give the city an added attraction to visitors, and bring hither many invalids. One of these wells gives the name to the Artesian stock farm, one of the largest and most complete establishments of its kind in the Northwest, comprising some 3,500 acres. Here is also located the Prairie du Chien Remedial Institute, noted for the medicinal and curative quality of its baths. This city is the judicial seat of Crawford county, in the southwest corner of which it is situated, 194 miles west of Milwaukee and 33 north west of Lancaster. Incorporated in 1873, it now contains a grain elevator, bank, saw and flour mills, a soap factory, a vinegar factory, a brewery, a public library, high and ward schools, a boarding school, the St. Mary's Institute for girls, the Sacred Heart, formerly for boys, but now changed into a theological seminary for the preparation of young men for the priesthood, Methodist, Congregational, Episcopal, Catholic, German Lutheran and German Evangelical churches, a public hall, a court house and an efficient and well-equipped fire department. Two ably edited and progressive weekly newspapers, the Courier (Dem.) and the Union (Rep.), are published, and grain, produce and live stock comprise the shipments. The city is connected by telephone with McGregor and Elkader, Iowa. No bonded indebtedness. Assessed valuation of real and personal property, $395,189. Exp., Am. and U. S. Tel., W. U. Population, 3,061. Edward Whaley, postmaster.

RACINE. The judicial seat of Racine county, is an important and rapidly increasing manufacturing city, advantageously located on Lake Michigan, at the mouth of Root river, and on the C. & N. W. and the C., M. & St. P. Rys, 62 miles northwest of Chicago, 25 southeast of Milwaukee, 107 southeast of Madison. It was settled in 1834 by Capt. Gilbert Knapp, and incorporated in 1848. A daily line of steamers land passengers and freight here, and touch at all lake ports north and south. The educational facilities are of a superior order, and the city is becoming notably prominent for the liberal and careful manner in which such matters are supported and maintained. Besides a thorough public school system, there is a college and several academies and private schools. The different religious denominations are numerously represented, and the majority possess handsome and imposing places of worship. The city is lighted by electricity and gas, has 3 national banks, large, commodious and handsome business blocks and elegant private residences, a well equipped and efficient fire department, an excellent system of water works, good hotels, telephone exchange, and all the facilities and appointments of a modern commercial metropolis. The most important interests of the city are its manufactories. There are sash, door and blind factories, iron foundries, farm implement manufactories, boiler works, box, soap, basket, carriage and wagon, boot and shoe, and glove and mitten factories, breweries, plow works, planing mills, feed cutter, road cart and fanning mill factories, woolen mill, a piano factory, pump and wind-mill factories, drain and tile pipe works, limestone, hardware factories and many more too numerous to mention here, but a complete list of which will be found in the subjoined alphabetical list and in the classified portion at the back of the book. The press is represented by the Journal (daily and weekly), the Times (daily), Utley's Dollar Weekly (weekly), the Correspondent (weekly), the Folkets Avis (Danish weekly), and the Slavie (Bohemian weekly). The products of the above mentioned mills and factories with grain, live stock and general farm produce constitute the shipments. Bonded debt, $149,605; assessed valuation of real estate and personal property, $9,128,350. Building and other improvements are very numerous, and the city is enjoying a prosperity very marked and gratifying. Tel., W. U. Exp., Am. and U. S. Population, 22,500. H. J. Smith, postmaster.

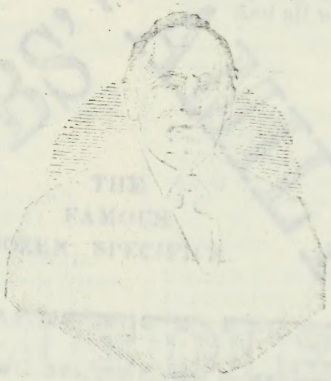
CELEBRATED

BILIOUS REMEDY'S FRIEND



FOR THE

LIVER AND KIDNEYS.

THE GREAT

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Cures all Diseases of the Liver and Kidneys,

AND

FEMALE WEAKNESS.

PRICE, $1.25.

THE BEST BLOOD PURIFIER. TRY IT.

THE SYSTEM RENOVATOR. Warranted to give Satisfaction.

ELIXIR OF LIFE.

The afternoon was waning fast.
And fiercely blew the wintry blast;
The youth 'twixt coughs and wheezes
In flaming letters overhead: [read
Tubbs' Elixir.

His face was pale, his blood-shot eyes
Were opened wide in mute surprise;
'Twas written there in red and gold,
The best specific for a cold:
Tubbs' Elixir.

In those few magic words he caught
A vision of the cure he sought.
He wiped his eyes, then heaved a sigh
And said, "As last resort I'll try
Tubbs' Elixir."

"I've tried physicians ten or more
And Cough Specifics by the score
But no relief I've ever met;
I'll drop them all and go and get
Tubbs' Elixir."

His dollar he did gladly pay,
And went rejoicing on his way;
His heart was gay, his spirits light,
He took when he retired that night
Tubbs' Elixir

That youth no more doth wheeze and cough
Until he shakes his eyeglass off.
He walks erect, his step is spry,
That horrid cold was cured by
Tubbs' Elixir.

He says it's worth its weight in gold,
The surest cure for cough or cold.
Its purity no one can doubt,
And all who've used it gaily shout
Tubbs' Elixir.

TRAVELERS INSURANCE CO. { M. N. MacLAREN, State Agent, 20 CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, MILWAUKEE. — The Largest and Strongest Accident Insurance Company in the World.—

2 large enameling works, a foundry for the manufacture of woodworking machinery, a veneer factory, a church, office and railroad furniture factory, a large establishment for bottling and exporting the famous Sheboygan mineral water, a ship yard, a modern floating dock, 2 banks, several fisheries shipping large quantities of fish, 5 brick yards, large and commodious business blocks and handsome residences. There are 13 churches, representing the leading religious denominations. The educational facilities are of a superior order, and the city is becoming notably prominent for the liberal and careful manner in which such matters are supported and maintained. The city is lighted by gas and electricity, has 4 miles of street railway service, an excellent system of water works, a well equipped fire department, 2 daily and 6 weekly newspapers, telephone exchange, first-class hotels, and all the facilities and appointments of a modern business center. It is in the midst of a wealthy agricultural district, enjoying every advantage of climate, fertility of soil and beauty of situation. The shipments comprise the products of the above mentioned factories, fish, mineral water, cheese, grain and farm products. Bonded debt, $200,250; assessed valuation of real and personal property, over $4,000,000. Exp., Am. and U. S. Tel., W. U. Population, 16,757 (U. S. census). Carl Zillier, postmaster.

SHEBOYGAN FALLS. A thriving village located in Sheboygan county, on the Sheboygan river and the S. & W. branch of the C. & N. W. Ry, 5 miles west of Sheboygan, the county seat. Incorporated as a village in 1854, it has had a substantial growth, and now contains the largest woolen mill in the State, a large tannery, 2 machine shops, a plow factory, a chair factory, planing mill, lime kiln, 2 banks, 1 newspaper, 5 churches, a public library of about 400 volumes, an excellent opera house, seating capacity 600, and the usual number of stores, etc., with probably more tributary cheese factories than any village in the State. The County Dairy Board of Trade meets here Tuesdays, and makes the village the cheese market of the county. The river at this point, by a series of rapids offers an available water power of 35 feet head in 3 dams, but the water supply compels the manufactories to use steam also. Cheese, woolen goods, agricultural implements, lime, grain and farm produce constitute the principal shipments. Three stages run to Weeden daily. Telephone, Wisconsin Circuit. Tel., W. U. Exp., Am. and U. S. According to census population is 1,107. Five mails daily. B. F. Heald, postmaster.

SPARTA. Dating its settlement from 1851 and incorporated in 1883, is a thriving city in Monroe county, of which it is the judicial seat. It is romantically situated in a fertile valley, near the head waters of La Crosse river, on the lines of the C., M. & St. P. and C. & N. W. Rys, and is an important station of both roads, 25 miles from the Mississippi river, 26 from La Crosse, 109 from Madison, and 107 from Milwaukee. It contains a paper mill and 2 flouring mills, operated by power furnished by the river, a sash and door factory, a foundry, 7 churches—Methodist, Congregational, Baptist, Catholic, Adventist, Lutheran and Norwegian Lutheran—a graded school, two opera houses, two banks and a public library of 2,000 volumes. The State School for Dependent Children is located here. The city has a paid fire department. Three weekly newspapers, the Herald, Monroe County Democrat and Independent are published, and live stock, grain, country produce and dairy products are shipped. Sparta is noted as a watering place, its superior accommodations and the quality of its mineral waters, making it one of the most popular in the northwest. Telephone connections. Stage to Cataract and Black River Falls every Tuesday and Friday. Population, 3,500. Tel., W. U. Exp., Am. J. J. French, postmaster.

STEVENS' POINT. The judicial seat of Portage county, is a flourishing, important and progressive city, advantageously located on both banks of the Wisconsin river and on the Wisconsin Central Line and the G. B., W. & St. P. R. R., 158 miles northwest of Milwaukee. Lumbering is the principal industry, the city being located at the base of the upper Wisconsin pineries, as well as those on the headwaters of the Chippewa, Black and Flambeau rivers. The city contains Baptist, Catholic, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, a large public library, high and graded schools, two of which were completed at a cost of $10,000 and $15,000 respectively, 2 banks, saw mills, planing mills, sash, door and blind factories, foundries and machine shops, shingle mills, large flouring and feed mills, boiler factories, and numerous large and commodious business blocks and handsome residences. The extensive machine, car, blacksmith and paint shops of the Wisconsin Central Line, located here, give employment to a large number of workmen. The press is represented by three weekly newspapers, The Gazette, The Journal and the Wisconsin Pinery. It is lighted by gas and electricity, has a well equipped fire department, an efficient police force, first-class hotels, telephone exchange and all the appointments and facilities of a metropolitan city. Its natural water power is surpassed by but few places in the West, and special inducements are offered to persons who will start any manufacturing industry. Exp., N. P. and U. S. Tel., W. U. Population, 9,000. E. McGlachlin, postmaster.
